CORE CAPABILITIES

SUPPLY CHAIN MANAGEMENT

A1 Anherma has been awarded several contracts for Supply Chain Management tasks working as a sub-contractor with US prime contractors and prime contractor for multiple branches of the Colombian military involving the areas of expertise mentioned below. One of our biggest clients is DIRAN, the Directorate of Anti-Narcotics Division of the National Police Force. They work closely with the US Department of State on the International Narcotics Law Enforcement (INL) Program. A1 Anherma has supported DIRAN since 2010 receiving written letters of acclamation for outstanding performance. We were able to provide expediency in sourcing critical parts. One of our major accomplishments was sourcing a kit for an MD500 aircraft when others failed over a period of 5 years. Throughout our service with multiple awards with DIRAN, we have supported their missions by managing over 300 vendors and distributors for parts acquisition, hired technicians and quality inspectors to support field operations, imported and exported critical parts to/from South America with ITAR and EAR requirements, arranged ground, air and oceanic transportation, leased and managed the parts warehouse and inventory and were responsible for their entire distribution process.

PROGRAM MANAGEMENT & LOGISTICS

Program management and logistics support are a large portion of what we do at A1 Anherma. Our international contracts have primarily been single award, task order driven. Although supply chain management has been a key ingredient to our success, each of our contract awards have included a large degree of managing the program or project associated with these task orders. The Colombian Air Force contracted us as the program manager for the technical personnel team. A1 Anherma oversaw all of the logistics required for field work in an austere and hostile job environment. We supplied all logistics including per diems for local housing, water, uniforms, tools, security equipment and special personnel needs. This was a 12 month contract awarded in 2015. Our work with supply acquisition and management requires us to manage all of the logistics from PO to completion. This includes arranging suitable transportation, storage and or/warehousing, import and export compliance, repair station or part vendor selection, weekly roll-up reporting, personnel and timelines for deliveries and returns.

STRATEGIC PARTNERSHIPS	The team at A1 Anherma LLC values strategic partnerships. We know that no one company, large or small has the expert knowledge of the continuous list of capabilities required for executing multiple contract requirements. Generally, the saying goes, “Good. Cheap. Fast. Pick any 2.” As this is usually the case, we understand the importance of aligning ourselves with partners who share the same 80/20 rule also referred to as the Pareto principle which suggests to focus on the fewer, larger jobs that will generate the most significant results and understanding that no one company can do it all.
